Important Base of Salamaua Is Taken By the Australians

Japanese Abandon Valuable War Equipment With New Guinea Field

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Southwest Pacific, Sept. 14 (Tuesday) (P).—A fast disintegrating Japanese army has abandoned Salamaua, New Guinea, leaving behind valuable war equipment to Australians pursuing them northward into the mountains, Allied headquarters announced today.

The air and sea anchorage base is the first place of prewar importance to be retaken from the enemy in the Southwest Pacific.

Salamaua was overrun Sunday, a day after Australians of a pioneer unit swam the rain-swollen Francisco River and occupied the big air-drome two miles southwest of the town.

A large Australian force moved cautiously into the town's harbor section built on an isthmus connecting the mainland with Cape Parua in the Huon Gulf. The action was unopposed. The Japanese who had survived Allied bombings which flattened Salamaua during a campaign of seven and one-half months had fled to ridges northwest of the town, beginning a flight toward Lae.

Salamaua, occupied by the Japanese shortly after they overran Lae, January 25, 1942, affords the Allies a sea and air base on the left flank of vital enemy bases on New Britain.

Allied bombers, making a round-trip flight of more than 2,000 miles, heavily bombed the waterfront and barracks at Makassar, Dutch Celebes.

Southeast of Salamaua, Japanese dive-bombers attacked the harbor of Allied-held Morobe, New Guinea, but today's communiqué said the raiders caused only minor damage.

The Japanese abandoned Salamaua, leaving behind much equipment as they fled north. Only one good trail leads from the captured base toward Lae.

But even should they succeed in reaching Lae, their fate apparently is sealed because the entire area from Salamaua to Lae is tightly encircled.

"We have captured Salamaua," the communiqué said.

"Our southern forces are in close pursuit of remnants of the enemy's disintegrating troops."

FORCES AT LAE INCREASE SQUEEZE

"Our northeastern and western forces (at Lae) are gradually increasing their pressure. Our heavy bombers in direct support attacked enemy defence installations with forty-nine tons of explosives, causing extensive damage at Emerys and Diddymans. A bridge on the main valley road was destroyed and several gun batteries silenced."

"In the Solomons, American bombers started fires and explosions in a new raid on the isolated Japanese air base of Vila, Kolombangara."

The pattern followed by the Allies thus far in their reconquest of New Guinea was disclosed to newsmen today by Gen. Sir Thomas Blamey.

The general stressed that ground

Officers of Allies Help Yugoslavs

Co-ordinate Guerrilla Warfare With Plans

CAIRO, Sept. 13 (P).—Allied senior officers are serving at the headquarters of both Gen. Draja Mihailovic and Josip Broz—popularly known as "Tito"—to co-ordinate Yugoslav guerrilla activities with Allied strategic plans, a Yugoslav report said today.

Partisan groups composed of both Serbs and Croats were reported holding large mountainous areas in Bosnia and Dalmatia, including the strategic heights overlooking the important city of Banja Luka.

Yugoslav partisans have consolidated their positions so well, it was reported, that some of the railways they destroyed when the Axis held them now have been repaired and are being used by the guerrilla groups.

Telephonic service also is working in sections of the liberated territory.

In parts of the country the Italian troops and partisans were reported to have joined forces to combat the Germans. At the important rail junctions of Karlovac and Ogulin, on the railway from Zagreb to the coast, Italians with their new partisan Allies are resisting attacks by the German and Croat Ustasha troops.

In Central Serbia there have been a series of minor engagements between Mihailovic's forces and the Bulgarian and German armies, and 100 enemy soldiers were reported to have been killed in these operations.

The partisan commander, Broz, with whom Allied officers are reported in contact, is a Montenegrin insurgent.

KING PETER MAY VISIT NORTH AFRICA

LONDON, Sept. 13 (P).—Dramatizing Yugoslav plans to take a full part in the United Nations offensive, young King Peter is expected to fly shortly to Allied headquarters in North Africa and visit the battlefields in Italy.

His appearance in Italy may be the signal for a large-scale uprising of the Yugoslav partisan and patriot forces under Gen. Draja Mihailovic and Josip Broz.

Cairo received reports today that fighting had broken out in Yugoslavia between the Italians and Germans as patriot forces resumed their guerrilla offensive on railways and other Nazi installations.

The knowledge that the popular young monarch, Peter, was just across the Adriatic from his homeland might stir upwards of 60,000 warriors streaming out of their mountain fastness.

New Peace Bridge on Alaska Highway Opened

Here is the newly-completed Peace River Bridge on the Alaska military highway in British Columbia. It was completed in record time under supervision of the United States Army and Public Roads Administration. It reaches 2,275 feet across the Peace River and is a vital link in the Alaska military highway. Left to right, during the formal opening, are: Brig.-Gen. James A. O'Connor, commanding general of the Northwest Service Command; United States Senator James G. Scrugham; of Nevada; the Hon. Herbert Anscomb, Minister of Public Works for British Columbia, and Major-General Philip B. Fleming, administrator for the United States Federal Works Agency.

Kuriles Hit By Bombers

Japanese Shipping Blasted by Americans

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (P).—The United States Navy announced today that army bombers today "successfully attacked enemy shipping and ground installations in the Paramushiro Island area" at the north end of Japan's Kurile chain of islands.

The formation of heavy and medium bombers scored hits on ground installations and five enemy ships in the area, the navy said.

This was the fourth raid by American bombers on the Kurile group.

Earlier in the day the Japanese radio had reported the raid, seeking to discount its force and damage.

Twenty-five enemy fighters attacked the American planes. Ten of the twenty-five and probably three more were shot down. Four United States planes were known to have been lost due to enemy action and six others failed to return.

This latter reference to failure to return suggested they had been lost on a long road home, perhaps to Aburatsubo in the Aleutians, 720 miles east.

In addition to "numerous hits" on ground installations, the navy said, a transport was fired and left in a sinking condition, another transport damaged and hit scored on three cargo vessels, one of which blew up.

Indicating that at least part of the attack was at low level despite the anti-aircraft fire, the communiqué reported that numerous small craft were strafed.

Previous bombing raids on the islands were carried out July 10, 12 and 19.

Fear Annexation

LONDON, Sept. 13 (P).—Aneta, Netherlands news agency, reported today that the annexation of the Netherlands to Germany and the fall of Anton Mussert, puppet Dutch Nazi leader, may result from a victory gained by the German "Elite Guard" over more moderate elements among the occupation authorities.

Bryansk Is Besieged By Soviets

Both Sides Suffer Heavy Casualties Near Vesuvius

RUSSIANS CUT FOUR OF FIVE TRUNK RAILWAYS

LONDON, Sept. 13 (P).—The Red Army has laid siege to the ancient citadel of Bryansk on the west bank of the Desna River after plunging over the bodies of 2,000 Germans to reach the east bank and cut four of the five trunk railways feeding that Axis stronghold, Moscow disclosed tonight.

A Soviet communiqué telling of the smash through the mine-filled forests east of Bryansk foreshadowed the early capture of that pivot of the Axis central and southern fronts.

"Our troops have come right up to the town of Bryansk," said the communiqué recorded by the Soviet monitor.

The bulletin added that Gen. M. M. Popov's troops had overrun the vital railway network on the eastern side of the Desna, seizing prisoners and equipment the Germans were unable to take with them in their flight to the west bank.

While Popov's troops were storming through Bryansk's outskirts, the communiqué said, other Russian armies still were racing through the Ukraine toward Kiev and the Dnieper River.

LOAD OF NAZIS ON TRAIN CAUGHT

The advance was so swift that at the rail station of Kruti, a few miles east of Nezh in the Northern Ukraine, a whole trainload of German reserves going to the front was caught.

"The blow delivered by our troops was so powerful that German reinforcements arriving at this station did not even have time to get out of their train," the communiqué said.

"The majority of Germans on the train were wiped out and the rest were taken prisoner."

South of Bakhmach, in the Ukraine, the remnants of four German divisions, originally approximately 60,000 men, were reported wiped out in another Soviet encirclement.

Aside from the heavy German reverses south of Bakhmach and before Bryansk, the Russians said their troops overhauled and cut down 1,500 of the enemy soldiers.

THE TIMES, London

(Copyright, 1943, by Southern Co.)

LONDON, Sept. 13.—An impressive scene marked the arrival of the surrendered Italian Navy at Malta, says The Times' special correspondent on board a British warship there.

Admiral Cunningham stood with General Eisenhower as his guest on the bridge of a destroyer and watched the Italian battle fleet steam in under the guns of Malta, guarded by British aircraft overhead.

The line of ships covered the dark blue Mediterranean for five miles and was headed by British battleships and a destroyer screen.

Each Italian vessel had a black pennant but this, Admiral Cunningham explained, had no special significance. It was merely used because it was easily distinguishable.

The people of Malta were overjoyed.

"This is a great day for us," said the British commander in chief. "I always thought it might end something like this."

"The Mediterranean was black with enemy ships in June, 1940, but we chased them home."

"Looking back on the whole battle, they weren't so tough."

"The Italians were nearly gone by the end of 1940, but the Germans came in to stiffen them up."

"Now the Mediterranean is cleared it will release many ships for use against the Japanese."

"These ships now added to our strength are first class."

ENEMY FORCED TO USE RESERVES

The enemy was pushing reserves toward the battle area despite day and night punning from Allied air fleets which were challenged by large German plane formations. Despite the mounting fury of the fight, its climax was not in sight.

Further Cut In Licences to Build Homes

Increased Scarcity of Materials Is Cause

OTTAWA, Sept. 13 (P).—Municipalities Minister Howe announced tonight that it has become necessary substantially to reduce the number of construction control licences issued for dwellings and certain other projects because of the scarcity of certain building materials, including manufactured equipment for installation in new houses.

"It is recognized that in certain areas, seriously overcrowded as a result of the war programme, some new housing may be necessary," Mr. Howe said in a statement.

"But the scarcity of materials has become so serious that all but absolutely essential construction must be postponed. Without such postponement, builders throughout Canada would face the probability of not being able to complete the construction and equipment of dwellings already started."

"Because of the changed circumstances, it will no longer be possible to continue granting the priority assistance for group housing which was announced last spring."

No licence for a dwelling will be granted under the structural steel and material specifications are kept to a minimum.

Mr. Howe warned against starting construction before issuance of a licence. "In certain parts of the country, builders have undertaken projects without a construction control licence," he said. "Apparently they do so in the hope that the licence can be obtained before their expenditure exceeds the $600 maximum for unlicensed construction."

"But in so doing they are contravening the wartime regulations. The fact that the construction has commenced will have no bearing on the decision reached by construction control as to the granting of a licence."

Freight Handlers Decide to Strike

HALIFAX, Sept. 13 (P).—Freight handlers on the Halifax waterfront voted at a mass meeting tonight to go on strike tomorrow morning in protest against the dismissal of J. L. Cohen from the National War Labor Board. More than 200 men will be affected in the tie-up.

The workers are members of the Cornwalls local of the International Brotherhood of Steamship Clerks, Express Workers, Freight Handlers and Station Employees (A.F.L.). They have had an application for a wage increase on file with the War Labor Board, and their case was to have been heard Wednesday.

However, as a result of the dismissal of Mr. Cohen, labor representatives on the board, the freight handlers said they felt it would not be possible to obtain a proper hearing. They said tonight they would remain on strike until Cohen was reinstated or a fully-accredited labor man was appointed to take his place.

Officials of Vichy Jailed For Stealing

Corruption and Graft Among Higher-Ups

MADRID, Sept. 13 (P).—A welter of graft, political crimes and general corruption among persons high in the pro-Nazi Vichy French regime and other collaborationist circles is shown in the twice-censored French newspapers arriving here today.

Only the barest outline is able to get into the newspapers, censored both by the Vichy authorities and the Germans, but the details are supplied by reports seeping over the border.

The web of pro-German and pro-Vichy employees—prefects, mayors, local Quilins and minor officials—is said to be crumbling under the triple threat of the exposure of their graft, assassination and plain fear that the German domination which has been supporting them is nearing its end.

During the last few days, a number of Vichy officials of all categories and in all parts of France have simply vanished, some with their families. Others did not leave soon enough and ended in hospitals, cemeteries or jails.

American Bombers Blast Hongkong

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 (P).—A formation of China-based American bombers today blasted Japanese installations in Hongkong, causing heavy damage, the Chungking radio said, quoting a Central News Agency dispatch from Shikwan.

The broadcast was heard by United States Government monitors.

PUBLISHER ARRESTED

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 13 (P).—Jose Aguado, publisher of the pro-Allied newspaper Noticias Graficas which was suspended indefinitely last week for its comment on rejection by the United States of Argentina's request for lend-lease aid, was taken into police custody today. Police said he would be held for action by the Federal Executive Department, which indicated prosecution was likely.

BULLETINS

COAL SITUATION WORSE

VANCOUVER, Sept. 13 (P).—The coal situation throughout Canada is worse than it was last year, Tom Marshall, Western representative of the coal controller, said today when asked for comment on the outlook for coal supplies here this winter.

Mr. Marshall added that if people will take whatever fuel is available and curtail consumption by at least 10 per cent, there will be less distress next winter than last.

REPORT ALLIED LANDINGS

ISTANBUL, Sept. 13 (P).—A report that Allied forces had made several landings on the Dodecanese Island of Rhodes, between Crete and the Turkish mainland, circulated today in marine circles of Izmir. Allied authorities said they had no confirmation. Rhodes air-dromes were attacked by United States bombers Sunday without opposition, it was announced in Cairo. Italian authorities said they had been unable for three days to establish contact with any of their posts on the Dodecanese islands.

"Masked Marvel" Fatally Stabbed

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 13 (P).—After David Gaspar Bacon, twenty-nine, "masked marvel" of the movies and star of many thrillers, died last night, victim of a stabbing.

The actor of a Boston political family, who told his studio he attended school with Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., and that he often had been a guest at the White House and Hyde Park, died in a bean field in suburban Venice, sobbing to a passerby, "Please help me."

Bacon last control of his small, English-built automobile. It bounced over the curb and stopped. He climbed out and collapsed. He died of a stab wound in the back, gasping his plea to a passerby.

A service station attendant a-half mile west of the bean field said a man and a woman, besides the driver, were in the car when it passed his place.

Bacon's wife, Great Keller, Austrian singer, who is expecting a child, was under a physician's care after hearing of her husband's death.

Bacon's father was formerly Lieutenant-Governor of Massachusetts.

Congress of Labor Wants Government Banking System

Control of All Transport and Operation of All Radio Broadcasting Urged by Convention

MONTREAL, Sept. 13 (CP).—The Canadian Congress of Labor opening its fourth annual convention here today demanded in a resolution that the Government of Canada "take over the entire banking system and operate it in the interests of the people."

The present system of banking, the resolution said, "does not operate in the best interests of the people, inasmuch as it leaves their economic and social life to a large extent at the mercy of a small clique of financial interests."

Control of "all transport" by the Board of Transport Commissioners and full ownership and operation by the Government of all Radio Broadcasting in Canada as a public utility, under the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, were also urged by the convention.

The motion on transport control pointed out that rail and air transport are subject to control and regulation by the Board of Transport Commissioners. Other transport was not so subject, which had "resulted in general confusion, unethical practices, leaving the field open to general abuse and terrific exploitation of labor."

TOTAL MEMBERSHIP ABOUT 300,000

The executive council's report announced that total membership in the Congress is now approximately 300,000.

A resolution submitted by Local No. 1, Fruit and Vegetable Workers' Union, Penticton, B.C., urging that all Sunday work be abolished, was thrown out by the convention on recommendation of the resolutions committee. This was impossible, the committee noted, pointing to railways as an example. The committee said it was evident that what the drafters of the motion had in mind was their own industry.

Delegates agreed that in event of a strike, "authorized or approved by the executive committee," being called by any organization coming within the jurisdiction of the Congress, and the executive committee being satisfied that financial assistance is needed, they be empowered to recommend to all chartered and affiliated units of the Congress that a contribution be made "by each such unit."

HOPE TO AVOID TALK OF SUSPENSION

President A. R. Mosher told delegates there was hope the annual convention here will be able to avoid discussion of suspension of the charter of Local No. 1, Boiler-makers and Iron Shipbuilders' Union of Canada, Vancouver, last January. He was unanimously granted postponement of this item of business on the convention agenda.

Suspension of the union's charter arose out of the election of officers in December, 1942.

"Since I have been in Montreal," President Mosher said, "I have had the privilege and pleasure of meeting representatives of warring factions in Vancouver and it seems that we are at least making some progress towards unearthing the tangle which has gone on there for the past few months."

As the matter was scheduled for discussion immediately after setting up of the various convention committees, Mr. Mosher asked for unanimous consent to delay.

However, disbandment will affect fifteen infantry units, three artillery units, four engineer and three medical units.

It is expected that a modified divisional headquarters will administer the three brigade groups in the new set-up, and that this will be formed around General Potts as his 6th Divisional headquarters staff.

Colonel Ralston has announced that the reorganization does not mean that all units will be disbanded. Details of how the reorganization will affect units of the three divisions have not yet been announced, but some will be disbanded with the divisions.

Maj.-Gen. Potts May Get New Military Post

Divisional Headquarters to Be Moved to New Location

OTTAWA, Sept. 13 (CP).—Maj.-Gen. A. E. Potts, of Saskatoon, whose 6th Division will be partially disbanded under Defence Minister Ralston's announcement today of a reorganization of Canadian troops in Canada, is considered likely to command operational troops in the Dominion.

Under the reorganization, the 7th Division, commanded by Maj.-Gen. P. E. LeClerc, of Montreal, and the 8th, commanded by Maj.-Gen. H. N. Gannon, of St. Stephen, N.B., will be disbanded.

It is expected that a modified divisional headquarters will administer the three brigade groups in the new set-up, and that this will be formed around General Potts as his 6th Divisional headquarters staff.

To Cut Canada's Home Defence by 20,000 Men

Seventh and Eighth Divisions to Be Disbanded and Sixth Division Will Be Partly Broken Up

OTTAWA, Sept. 13 (CP).—Reduction of Canada's home defence operational military force by some 20,000 men was announced by Defence Minister Ralston today in a move which involves disbanding the Seventh and Eighth Divisions and partial disbandment of the Sixth Division.

The step is one of a number taken or contemplated in the light of an improved strategic situation, a pressing manpower shortage in Canada and the fact that the army has "passed the expansion stage."

In a rough estimate of the military forces in Canada given the House of Commons by Defence Minister Ralston last June, the 250,000 men were divided into three equal parts, 80,000 in the operational units, including the three divisions affected by today's announcement; 80,000 in the training stream and 90,000 in the home war establishment, engaged on staff work at headquarters and training centres and in servicing establishments.

Today's announcement, when carried into effect, will bring the home operational force down to something like 60,000.

Recently a number of training centres were closed in consequence of a reduction in the number of men in the training stream due to the army having passed the expansion stage and the fact that from now on training will be for reinforcement of existing units, not for manning new units.

The two developments together will permit of a reduction of the 80,000 odd men in the home war establishment as fewer men will be required in staff and servicing functions.

NEW FORMATIONS TO BE CREATED

In place of the three divisions, new formations with a smaller establishment will be created. They will be three complete brigade groups, each capable of operating independently, but administered and trained under a modified divisional headquarters.

In addition there will be a "training brigade group" in Eastern Canada, in which reinforcements for overseas will receive more advanced training than they have hitherto been given on this side of the Atlantic.

The minister said the need for enlistment in the army continues. The present fiscal year's programme called for 100,000 new men, 75,000 for overseas, an intake rate of 8,500 per month. In the five months so far elapsed the average enlistment was about 5,000 a month and about 2,700 a month came in on call-up. Hence general service men had to be drawn from establishments to keep up with the flow of overseas movements.

Men in the disbanded formations who are fit for overseas service will be used as reinforcements. Those units will replace others who are fit in other establishments in Canada or be returned to civilian life by discharge in order to aid in relieving the civilian manpower shortage.

Colonel Ralston said the reduction of the establishment for operational troops by about 20,000 men does not mean that number will go out of the army. Many will be reallocated according to the needs of the service to fill up remaining units and for potential reinforcements, depending on age, rank and medical category.

China Fund Total

Total subscriptions to the Chinese War Relief Fund drive have amounted to $12,435, including a $666 donation from the City of Victoria, C. T. Martin, secretary, stated on Monday.

A $100 donation was received from the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., Victoria, Branch No. 7.

The public is reminded that donations can still be mailed to headquarters at 706 Fort Street.

forces were covered throughout by superior air power and by amphibious resources at decisive moments.

Arrival of a United States Navy amphibious force under Rear Admiral Daniel B. Dyer at the end of June enabled the Allied Command to develop more speedily its work.

The Allied Command's strategy has been to weaken the Lae garrison to a point where it can not hope to fight its way free of the trap which was set by the Australian and American drive to Salamaua and sprung by amphibious landings east of Lae and airborne landings west of the base on September 5 and 6.

Failure of the Japanese to offer serious resistance to the amphibious operation and to stop the Allies from two directions seems a clear demonstration of the success of the strategy.

Markets Needed For B.C. Tungsten

Announcement Made Monday by Dr. John P. Walker, Deputy Minister of Mines

Announcement made Monday by Dr. John P. Walker, deputy minister of mines, that the great demand for the discovery of new tungsten properties and for increased production in the province with the problem of finding markets for current production.

The situation with regard to supply has been satisfactorily alleviated during the past few weeks, Dr. Walker stated, reporting that grubstakers have been exerting every effort in the past two seasons to try to find new deposits of scheelite.

Tungsten, used chiefly to toughen steel, and make cutting tools, is of vital concern to the war effort, and Dr. Walker paid tribute to the prospectors, saying, "They have done their bit in the war effort and can only share in the general satisfaction that the tungsten situation is now easy."

Charge Officials Tap Telephones

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (CP).—Drew Pearson, radio commentator and columnist, in a radio broadcast last night accused "certain Gestapo officials" in Washington of tapping the telephone wires of newspapermen in order to "learn what Government officials may be tipping off the press to an Administration mess which he has tried to clean up, but cannot do so without the help of the press."

"In the days of our founding fathers illegal entry into a man's home was one outrage which brought on the revolutionary war," Pearson said. "Yet today in Washington certain Gestapo officials resort to a far more outrageous system of illegal entry. They tap the telephone wires of newspapermen."

"Not every Administration blunder is a military secret," Pearson continued, "and if the President retains Cabinet members who go in for blunders then their Gestapo should not resort to wire tapping to find out who is trying to focus the clean light of publicity on their mistakes. That is not Americanism."

Mrs. Bernard Shaw Dies in London

LONDON, Sept. 13 (CP).—Mrs. George Bernard Shaw, wife of the celebrated wit and playwright, died Sunday at her London home. The cause of her death was not announced.

The former Miss Charlotte Frances Payne-Townshend, she was one of the few persons to have the last word with Shaw. They were married in 1898 after a courtship on the bicycle paths of Surrey.

As Shaw's fame increased, his wife retired to the background and she was little known to the public.

Mrs. Shaw was described by the playwright before their marriage as a "millionaire with cleverness and character."

Mrs. Shaw published a translation of French plays. She endowed institutions and scholarships and was known as a lover of music and the arts. She spoke German, French and Italian and also became proficient in Russian, which she studied before visiting the Soviet Union with her husband some years ago.

Mrs. Shaw was last mentioned in the British press ten years ago when a reporter for a London paper called to ask her about a letter Shaw had written.

"Good gracious!" she said to the reporter, "that silly old man been writing to the newspapers again?"

It is inspiring to think one stands in the line of a great tradition.

forces were covered throughout by superior air power and by amphibious resources at decisive moments.

Arrival of a United States Navy amphibious force under Rear Admiral Daniel B. Dyer at the end of June enabled the Allied Command to develop more speedily its work.

The Allied Command's strategy has been to weaken the Lae garrison to a point where it can not hope to fight its way free of the trap which was set by the Australian and American drive to Salamaua and sprung by amphibious landings east of Lae and airborne landings west of the base on September 5 and 6.

Failure of the Japanese to offer serious resistance to the amphibious operation and to stop the Allies from two directions seems a clear demonstration of the success of the strategy.

PRINCIPAL P. H. ELLIOTT

Canada sustained irreparable loss with the passing of Principal Percy H. Elliott, the head of Victoria College, who succumbed at the Royal Jubilee Hospital on Sunday evening after a comparatively brief illness, as the result of a heart attack. A leading educator in Western Canada, Professor Elliott had been for thirty-five years associated with school and university life in Victoria. He was beloved by two generations of men and women who passed through Victoria High School and Victoria College, the latter in all of its associations with McGill University and the University of British Columbia. To hundreds he was known as a friend.

Born in Bruce County, Ontario, on October 3, 1882, Professor Elliott was sixty-one years of age at the time of his death. After a brilliant career at McGill University, he graduated in 1906 with the degree of Master of Science and distinction in laboratory work. In 1908, he joined the staff of the old Victoria High School as an instructor in chemistry and physics, and was on the faculty of Victoria College when it was a small wooden annex on the High School grounds. For a time associated with the University of British Columbia, Professor Elliott returned to Victoria College later, and succeeded to the principalship on the retirement of the late Dr. E. B. Paul.

In educational matters Principal Elliott was widely known throughout Canada. He served on the Senate of the University of British Columbia, and was for twenty-five years a member of the Board of Examiners of the British Columbia Department of Education. Up to within recent months he continued to lecture in physics and chemistry, besides directing faculty affairs of Victoria College. But his influence was wider than that. Professor Elliott, to an unusual degree, had the personal magnetism and charm of a true leader. Successive faculties and student bodies came to know him as both friend and adviser; one whose steady, illuminating influence was ever on the side of human encouragement and addressed to the finest ideals in life.

To his widow and surviving relatives, The Daily Colonist wishes to express its deepest sympathy and profound regret. Everyone in Victoria today is the poorer for the passing of a scholarly gentleman of the very finest type, a philosopher and, above all, a warmly human adviser and friend. The influence of such a man, operating as it did over two generations, will not so easily be extinguished. It will live on.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS

The forthcoming convention of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities, to open on Wednesday at the Alberni Canal, will provide an excellent opportunity for senior governments to learn what the seventy-nine cities, towns and villages of this Province are thinking, at least among their corporate managements. Victoria, as the capital city of British Columbia, should be strongly represented there.

One could almost write in advance many of the representations that the Municipalities may make to their senior administrations. Inevitably, the Union will call attention to those conditions bearing physically and financially upon municipal business. Housing congestion, disruption of fuel supplies, acute shortage of labor, the polling and fire protection of overfilled towns, transportation problems, health conditions, and school complexities have affected every municipality in British Columbia to a greater or lesser extent.

Under finance, there will be the perennial question of civil revenues, and the vital one of civil re-establishment after this conflict is over. Hospitals and schools, both running into large capital outlays, the availability of provincial and Federal credits after the war; the division of responsibility for receiving back citizens and insuring them a fresh start in life; all these items, and many others, have at their base a fiscal root. It is a foregone conclusion that the municipalities will wish to know what help they may be able to count upon after the war.

It will be to the benefit of all agencies, and to the people at large, if the senior governments regard such discussions as that planned by the Union of British Columbia Municipalities with a seeing-eye. British Columbia, through its Department of Municipal Affairs, is in a good position to do so. The Dominion, however, has seldom demonstrated more than an offhand concern in municipal affairs. Yet municipal affairs are human affairs, and in the years that are to come human affairs will have to be considered a good deal more closely than was always the case in the past. British Columbia Municipalities have done well in the careful management of their several businesses during the war. They are entitled now to a positive hearing, and not merely a negative one. For here, too, are issues that must be faced.

ARMY REORGANIZATION

Reorganization of the Canadian Army on duty in Canada, so that 20,000 fewer men will be engaged in defence duties, numbers of others will be sent overseas, and substantial numbers returned to civilian life is a considerable undertaking, announced yesterday at Ottawa by Mr. Ralston, Minister of Defence. Mr. Ralston explained it will involve the breaking up of the Seventh and Eighth Divisions, and the partial disbandment of the Sixth Division, and their replacement by a smaller total establishment officially on duty in Canada.

Although the Minister might well have been more ample in his stated reasons, it will be inferred by the public that need for the defence of Canada in Canada has lessened as a result of recent events in the war; that, to some extent at least, younger men in defence operational units will be applied as reinforcements to overseas units after additional training in Eastern Canada; and that, unstated, but substantial, numbers of men in the older and less active medical categories will be leaving the uniformed services entirely.

It is noted that in all twenty-five units will be affected by the reorganization. These include fifteen infantry, three artillery, four engineer, and three medical units. Mr. Ralston says that not all of these units will be broken up, leaving the inference that some of them will be, and for the reasons outlined. Mr. Ralston might have taken the people a little more into his confidence, and told them what might well be the necessities behind this major change in policy—why three Divisions recruited in Canada are even in part to be broken up, with the war in its present phase? Was their initial creation merely an expedient in response to political pressure, or a settled policy of recruitment in the war?

PRESIDENT CHIANG KAI-SHEK

Around the free world today, wherever men of backbone and right purpose are valued, the elevation of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek to the highest office within the gift of the Chinese people, that of President of the Republic of China, will be received with undisguised satisfaction and acclaim. Never, perhaps, was such a tribute more richly earned. A strong man in China at the hour of that nation's greatest peril, a world leader by virtue of his valor in the field and his ability to lead men in the grim passage of war, President Chiang Kai-shek is more than that. He is the symbol of a reborn China itself, its leader at home and its spokesman in the world.

On this continent, especially, where his gracious wife and partner is esteemed and sincerely admired, the advancement of China's fighting Generalissimo to the Presidency will be received with warm commendation, and the reciprocation of the kindest human regard. The facts are evidence again, if such were wanting, that great times and great stresses produce the men who are needed. President Chiang Kai-shek will be no less a tower of strength to China, and to her Allies, than was the man who fought a rearguard action for six years against ceaseless odds. Rather, with greater powers, he will be able to accomplish much for the Republic of China and for the free world at large.

It is itself one guarantee of the security of the peace that a man of the calibre of President Chiang Kai-shek will speak for China when the terms of that peace come to be inscribed. An enlightened and a keen-visioned leader, with a vision of what is possible in the rebirth of his own land and a grasp also of world affairs on an international plane, China's new President is following in a brief but brilliant tradition in the steps of the late Dr. Sun Yat-sen. China is giving the world a good man, one to match the needs of these stirring times. May good fortune attend the crowning triumph of his years!

SIGNOR MUSSOLINI

The Nazi German press, in its most unreliable manifestations, is proclaiming a great victory. It states that parachute troops and Gestapo agents rescued Signor Mussolini from the hands of Italian guards. The claim, whatever the facts, is a little premature. Nothing can "rescue" Signor Mussolini from the lasting responsibility for those acts of which he was the author. No corner of the world will be obscure enough to hide him in the peace, if the United Nations should want him then.

The years are witness against Signor Mussolini, as they testify against all those who led the world into an unprovoked war. They tell of intrigue, plot, murder and inhuman crimes in a modern calendar. They speak of the destruction of homes and the decimation of peoples. They cry aloud to heaven against the misuse of power by those who seized it for wrongful ends. Were not another soul living, the years would still testify against Signor Mussolini in his own heart; pursuing him relentlessly with chapter and verse, with date, place and circumstance, with every single act for which he stands responsible.

Nobody is going to "rescue" Signor Mussolini, least of all the Gestapo agents. They, too, and every one of them from Herr Himmler down to the least, are the pursued. In the peace, no corner of the earth will be dim or small enough to hide them from those whom they have wronged. Herr Hess behind bars thinks himself pursued, but he cannot escape Herr Hess. He cannot undo the things he has done, or unsee the sights he has seen. Waking or sleeping, they follow him. Waking or sleeping, similar sights and similar acts will follow all those who deliberately set their hands against humanity.

No amount of German bluff and bluster will disguise the fact that the Axis is no more, that the Italian fleet is in Allied hands, and that Mussolini's mare nostrum has been opened like an oyster from end to end.

Attempting to hold off the Allies in the Naples area, the Luftwaffe used fighter formations of 120 massed machines this week. They attacked Allied aircraft in pairs, but were systematically driven off with heavy losses. Watching fronts thousands of miles apart is putting a severe strain on the Luftwaffe. None of its fronts is holding in the air.

By the capture of the Japanese airfield at Salamaua, United States and Australian troops in New Guinea have added another stepping stone on the road to Lae, which is itself besieged. For six months past the Japanese have done little save give ground in the Southwest Pacific, with damaging consequences to their self-styled legend of invincibility.

BRITAIN

There is a beauty time cannot destroy. There is a name that makes war impotent; There is a name which Truth and beauty spell—Britain, the home and refuge of the free. And all that Burns and Shelley held so dear And made immortal. This is Britain now As it was Britain in its golden age. For this men die, a smile upon their lips. Nor can the hosts of darkness quench its light. Eternal as the sea that guards it well To stand as beacon to the world.

A. M. Stephen, in "Lords of the Air." In Italy the appearance of a German army was at no time regarded as an unlooked-for blessing. "History of Europe."

I have seen the hippopotamus, both asleep and awake; and I can assure you that, awake or asleep, he is the ugliest of the works of God.—T. B. Macaulay.

Grow old along with me! The best is yet to be. The last of life, for which the first was made.—Robert Browning.

Orlando, my Lord, said Bishop Warburton, in a whisper—"orthodoxy is my bishop—heterodoxy is another man's dog."—Joseph Priestley.

There are three things which the public will always clamor for sooner or later, namely, novelty, novelty, novelty.—Thomas Hood.

The Razor

FRANK M. KELLEY

Hideki Tojo, Premier of Japan, on assuming office in October, 1941, issued, no doubt, after a huddle with his Cabinet, a somewhat unexpected statement, at least it was as far as the Japanese militarists were concerned. He said that conversations were to continue with Washington in an earnest effort to bring about "peace with justice" to all of Asia.

Not in the confidence of the Cabinet at the moment, the announcement did not meet with approval by either the army clique or the Japanese press, evidently expecting a declaration of drastic policy in Pacific affairs. Tojo had disappointed army and press. He was not shaping up as the papers and the military had been given to understand he would. He had been chosen to do a real job, to take advantage of the opportunities presented in the Pacific area while Britain's hands were busy in Europe. And there he was implying that Japan would make peace above all things.

Undoubtedly the result of careful study and well covered up, there was no suggestion of sword rattling in Tojo's initial pronouncement of policy. It looked as though the Russian "conversations" were intended to continue on the lines of the Koonoye note of the preceding August to President Roosevelt, in which it was intimated that Japan was prepared to back down from the demands she had been making, and that Japan and the United States should always be friends.

Tojo's modest attitude on the occasion of the statement mentioned caught outsiders a little off balance at the time, too. Western spokesmen ventured the opinion that the stiff resistance Hitler's armies were encountering about that time on the Russian front might well be responsible for Tojo's soft utterances. Indeed, it seemed a good and sufficient reason to cause Japan to pause before doing anything rash. The position of the German armies, however, had little or nothing to do with Japan's own game-conquest.

Tojo's Cabinet, it was subsequently revealed through actions taken, was not worried over what was taking place in Russia. It was going to play its own high stakes and the gamble was developing in its favor, providing an opportunity for which might never occur again. The opportunity for the Army, which it represented, to play certain trump cards which late had appeared put into the hands of the leaders promoting the so-called East Asia Co-prosperity Sphere.

With the cards in the possession of the militarists, represented by Tojo and Cabinet, there was no hurry to play them. Certain preliminaries were still considered necessary in making ready for the game. Tojo and his players wanted to be as sure as possible that the play would go on without interruption after it was started. So he talked pleasantly to gain time, and made preparations to send a peace-talking emissary to Washington. He also, to make sure that what had been planned would have the necessary collaboration of the Diet in case anything happened to go wrong, called an extraordinary session of that body. It did not matter that there had been no such session of the Diet since 1927. The time served to use it for furthering the Army's purposes.

With the assault on Pearl Harbor, Tojo's real attitude was disclosed to his countrymen, and the play was applauded by them accordingly. The United States forces had been taken unaware. What had happened while the Cabinet was seemingly so hard at work seeking a peaceful solution, appeared so easy, the Army was unanimously endorsed by the Japanese and its leaders felt well repaid for the way everything had been planned and carried out.

Before the Army had attained control of the Government, the Diet had been the hardest to hurdle, but with Konye's help this was accomplished in 1940 when all political parties in Japan planned for totalitarianism and paved the way for the Army to take over. The Diet had not been dissolved. Having been created by the Imperial Constitution, however, the Diet could not be removed without giving "serious offence to the person of the Emperor." Considering it a convenient time to make use of it, Tojo proposed to have the people co-operate with the Army through the Imperial Diet, and called it to show that it had supported the Army and assumed responsibility for pressing a definite policy in the future.

Hideki Tojo, long since nicknamed "The Razor" by his associates.

Crowd Sees C.N.R. Spikes Driven—The link in the chain that is to bind Victoria with the wealthy and fast-developing West Coast was forged truer and stronger yesterday morning at Luxton, when the first spikes by the Canadian Northern Railway's extension from Colwood to Sooke were driven. A gathering of some 400 people watched as the spikes were driven. Those who did the task were Premier John Oliver, Dr. S. F. Tolmie, M.P. for Victoria; Dr. D. O. Lewis, resident engineer of the Canadian Northern Pacific Railway; Mr. T. H. White, chief engineer of the C.N.R.; Major-General R. G. E. Leckie, General Officer Commanding Military District 11; and Capt. E. H. Martin, R.N., C.M.B.E., superintendent of the navy yard.

Gold Storage Warehouse—A cold storage warehouse being an institution of great advantage to any city, it is hoped that the businessmen of Victoria will be in attendance at the meeting this afternoon to show that they take interest in the proposal to establish one here. The vessels engaged in the Australian trade will soon have large holds fitted up as cold storage chambers, but it will be impossible to utilize these to any extent unless the goods find a similar chamber here.

Screw Steamers—Screw steamers have been put to the test of close competition by the Cunard Company. The Scotia is a side-wheel ship, and the Jura is a screw. The former consumes more than double the coal per ton per mile. On our coast the great port of fuel would seem to give preference to screw steamers, and it is understood they are of equal speed or nearly so. The Cunard Company has changed to screws altogether.

ales, was born fifty-eight years ago. He was well qualified, owing to his general appearance, for taking over the chief post in any form of totalitarian government. Japan might want. His father was Lieut. General Hidenori Tojo, Russo-Japanese war general. Hideki is a graduate of Tokyo Imperial Military Academy. He has seen service in China with the Kwantung Army in Manchuria, where he was active under Generals Nishio and Itagaki during the late thirties. He operated a kind of Gestapo for his chief, checking up on the Army's loyalty.

During his service in North China and Manchuria he was known in this role. In 1937 he became Kwantung Army chief of staff. In 1938 he was made Vice-War Minister under Itagaki. In 1939 he became chief of the air force, because he handled certain wealthy munitions makers too harshly.

Japan's army when Pearl Harbor was attacked numbered approximately two million men in arms, with four and one-half million men in reserve. Her fleet was only slightly below parity with the combined United States Pacific and Asiatic fleets; while she was said to have had four thousand combat planes. There were seven hundred thousand men in Manchuria and about one million soldiers in various parts of China at the same time. There are fewer today, and Pearl Harbors come only once.

Last time Bill, the Broad Street barber, attended a union meeting he was called on to make a report. The opportunity was too great to pass up, so the Lancashire lad rammed on for many minutes in a fashion similar to that exercised in the shop with a victim in his chair. Finally Bill ran out of wind. "Sorry that I spoke so long," he beamed. "I left my watch at home, and there no clock in the hall." From the back row a voice boomed: "There is a clock behind you on the wall."

Brigadier General Desmond Smith, thirty-one, is Canada's youngest officer holding that rank. He was graduated from Royal Military College at Kingston at the age of twenty-one. Mayor William F. Devin stated to air-raiders based at Seattle last Saturday: "I fully realize, as you do, the serious problem facing all branches of the civilian protection division during these days of Allied victories. I am aware of the over-optimism of many citizens and the tendency to relax our vigilance in civilian defence. However, we as leaders in civilian defence must not permit the encouraging reports from our armed forces to retard us in our duty of protecting the city as long as there is an enemy in the field."

One of England's most illustrious war machines is the paddle steamer Royal Eagle, which used to carry holidaying Londoners to seaside resorts. Since 1939, the vessel has been in action against warcraft fifty-two times, has saved twenty-four lives at sea, and has destroyed the ship made three trips, brought home 3,000 troops, and was dive-bombed forty-eight times. . . . The War Production Board in the United States has authorized the manufacture of 47,919 new trucks and trailers for civilian uses during the first half of 1944.

Invasion is no novelty to Italy. Lombards from Germany overran the country in 568, and Germans staged an invasion in 1176. Napoleon arrived with his troops in 1800, and Austrians and French moved in 1859. Austrians moved in again in 1866, and Hungarians and Austrians occupied part of Italy during the first Great War.

TELL 'EM TO MEET ME IN BERLIN

Letters to Editor

We invite the Editor to use in his paper any letter that is interesting, instructive, or helpful. The letter should be signed and addressed to the Editor, and should not exceed 100 words in length.

JAM FOR BRITAIN

Sir,—The workers at the Red Cross Jam Kitchen have now made 5,940 pounds of our Victoria quota of 10,000 pounds of jam for Great Britain. To reach the total it will require another three or four weeks' work, depending on the quantity of fruit which is donated. We are very pleased with the response so far, and appeal for a continued supply of plums and apples.

The Jam Kitchen, at 517 Yates Street, is now open six days a week, on Wednesday and Saturday, from 9:30 to 2 p.m., and on the other four days from 7 a.m. to 4 p.m. Donations of fruit, no matter how small, will be accepted gladly. If the fruit is handed to the trucks of the Island Freight or Saanich Freight it will be delivered free. Acknowledgment of safe delivery will be made if name and address of the donor is attached to each consignment.

We feel sure that the people of Victoria and district will spare some of their late ripening fruit, and will also pick the rest of the blackberry crop to help us to make our full quota of jam for British children. Telephone Mrs. A. Jobling (E9319) for fruit pickers are needed. Volunteering to work at the kitchen would also be welcome, to take the place of those on vacation. Will anyone willing to give some time to this work please ring me, evenings, at E7605. MRS. A. J. A. BEIL, Convener.

517 Yates Street, Victoria, B.C., September 13, 1943.

WOULD RATION RAISINS

Sir,—I think, owing to the short supplies of raisins, the Government should ration that commodity to insure equal distribution for all.

H. W. HARRIS, 626 Vancouver Street, Victoria, B.C., September 11, 1943.

LIFTS TO SOLDIERS

Sir,—I was greatly interested in one of your recent articles describing the generosity of Americans in giving lifts to men of the armed forces, even to the extent of erecting shelters for them on the highways to protect them from inclement weather and fatigue.

It does one good to learn that there are still some kind-hearted Christians left in the world who think outwardly and not inwardly, looking always to the comfort of the forces who are giving up such a lot in the way of home comfort and doing so much in other ways for so little—even to the willing sacrifice of their lives and their bodies to exposure and pain. They do this unselfishly that others may enjoy in tranquility and security these luxuries which the soul laments after.

It is a pity that the people of this Island in general and Victoria in particular cannot emulate our good neighbors across the border and become endowed with some of their milk of human kindness and charity toward their fellow men.

It might be suggested as a remedy for existing conditions that everyone lucky enough to own and drive a car these days should be given a gas ration book only when he agrees to help ease the present traffic jam by giving lifts, and some sort of sticker should be displayed on their windshield to show their willingness to do so. H. W. HARRIS.

R.R. 1, Royal Oak, Vancouver Island, B.C., September 10, 1943.

MORNING GLORY

Sir,—The moon flower, or wild morning glory, has spread to such an extent in the past twenty years that in another like period it will have engulfed all of the gardens and farmlands about the City of Victoria. It is a pernicious weed, strangles all other plants, and its roots grow unendingly and so deep as to be about impossible to eradicate. The Canadian thistle also is all too prevalent in and around the city, and is most difficult to destroy. This is a matter that not only the City of Victoria but the Prosvincial Government as well should give most serious consideration.

ARTHUR LEVY, 1022 Pemberton Road, Victoria, B.C., September 11, 1943.

Workers Asked Not to Bring Their Families

The real property administration of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, Ottawa, has appealed to all those whose work takes them to "deficiency housing areas" not to bring their families with them.

The appeal is necessary, according to Russell Smart, real property administrator, because of the hardships involved in getting family dwelling units. Such accommodations are not merely difficult to obtain in these areas, Mr. Smart pointed out, but almost impossible.

In Ottawa, the housing registry has 1,850 applications for units and only twenty-five vacancies. Of the new applications, "30 per cent" are from heads of families in the armed forces and 277 from heads of families in civilian occupation. Not all are newcomers to the city. Four hundred applications are from natives of the city.

So acute is the situation in Halifax that no figures are available. There is no registry because it is felt registry methods could bring forth no new space. At the West Coast, Vancouver reports about 2,371 applications for family dwelling units alone, and only fifteen listed. Victoria has 892 applications on hand and fifty-two vacancies.

In the event of conditions becoming more acute and pressure on these areas increasing, Mr. Smart pointed out, it might be necessary to consider regulations restricting movement of families to the deficiency areas.

Two thousand one hundred and thirty-three new arrivals in Victoria registered at the National Housing Registry during the past two months, according to Mrs. W. E. Rayfuse, manager of the registry. Of these, 1,210 were shipyard workers and their families.

Every day letters are received from points all over Canada asking the registry to locate accommodation for persons planning to arrive. These prospective visitors are all possible to find the type of accommodation they desire, but usually they arrive anyway.

According to Culbertson

At match-point duplicate, it is a tight-knit business for a vulnerable team to sacrifice against the game contract reached by non-vulnerable opponents. Considerable skill may be required to hold the penalty to one trick the largest set the vulnerable team can afford to take, assuming, of course, that the sacrifice bid has been doubled. For example:

West, dealer. North-South vulnerable. Match-point duplicate.

NORTH				EAST
♠	A 3 2			♠	K 9 4
♥	J 8 6			♥	A K 7 3
♦	A 8 7			♦	10 5 3
♣	10 9 5 3			♣	8 6 4 2

At the other table the South was the dealer. The contract was 3NT. The bidding was:

NORTH				EAST
♠	J 10 8 7 4			♠	9 5 3
♥	Q 3			♥	A K 7 3
♦	Q 3			♦	10 5 3
♣	K Q J 8			♣	8 6 4 2

This identical bidding took place at two different tables. At one table, however, North-South earned an excellent match-point score by sacrificing against the opponents' lay-down game in hearts, whereas at the other table North-South took "bottom" by going down 500 points. The defence at both tables was the

A.Y.F.A.

At a recent meeting of the Langford-Colwood branch of the Anglican Young People's Association a general election was held with Rev. C. H. Greenhalgh in the chair. The officers elected were: President, Bert Walker; Vice-president, Jack Lequesne; secretary, Adele Alkman; treasurer, Joyce Selva; sports and entertainment convener, Mervyn Brown; refreshment convener, Millie Kerr. The committee conveners gave the reports of the year's activities and the financial condition as reported by the treasurer was considered good. The members decided to have a newspaper to send to past members who are in the armed forces. Future plans for the annual dance to be held on November 19, in the Colwood Hall, were discussed.

Sea Cadets Plan To Expand Units

Plans to increase strength of the Sea Cadets from 11,000 to 15,000 members were made during the recent Navy League of Canada convention at Niagara Falls. It was stated Monday by Magistrate Henry C. Hall, who attended the party as representative of Vancouver Island and Makinling branches of the league.

Magistrate Hall said the forty delegates present from all parts of the Dominion were unanimous in their opinion that great postwar expansion of the merchant marine would provide many opportunities for apprentices.

Freight Handlers Return to Work Under Protest

PORT WILLIAM, Sept. 13 (CP)—The strike of 550 freight handlers at the docks in Port Arthur and Port William ended today following a meeting of the men with labor representatives.

At the meeting decision was taken to return to work immediately but under "protest." The men had been on strike since last Thursday, seeking higher wages.

The workers agreed to allow their case to be heard by a quorum of the

NOW! 3 FLIGHTS DAILY—between WINNIPEG and the EAST

Effective Sept. 15, a third daily flight will be inaugurated between Winnipeg, Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal. The new overnight service will relieve the transcontinental, and increase accommodation for Western Canada traffic.

Additional Service to NEW YORK

Toronto-New York schedule revised to provide a third daily flight, will give Western Canada a twice-daily service to New York.

Improved NEWFOUNDLAND Service

Schedule changes will also provide improved service between Canada and Newfoundland.

Destroyer Arrives With Bow Missing

The British destroyer Wolfhound lost 100 feet of her bow in an attack by German bombers whilst escorting a convoy from the United States off the British coast. Her crew pluckily refused to leave her, and kept her afloat until a trawler had taken her in tow and dragged her into port twenty hours later. With a new bow, she'll escort more convoys.

War Labor Board But Protested the Dismissal of the Labor Representative on the Board.

The workers were informed that if they went back to work today a decision in their case would be rendered by the board on Wednesday.

A statement issued by the union said if the War Labor Board does not render a decision on Wednesday, or if the decision is against the men, a further meeting will be held Wednesday night to consider action.

During the strike package freight piled up at the Lakehead docks. Several vessels arrived from the East during the week-end.

Conductorettes For Street Cars

VANCOUVER, Sept. 13 (CP)—First ten "conductorettes" in training will appear on Vancouver street cars next week, officials of the B.C. Electric Railway Company announced today.

The company has given National Selective Service an order for twenty "suitable" women, from whom will be chosen the ten "most suitable." Candidates must pass physical and other tests.

Although only ten women will be trained at this time the company expects to increase the number to fifty or more in the near future.

Canadian Made Squadron Commander

LONDON, Sept. 13 (CP)—Canada's top-scoring night fighter, Wing Commander R. C. Fumerton, of Port Coulongue, Que., has been appointed commander of the oldest RCAF night fighter squadron in Britain. It was announced today.

Fumerton, thirty, has destroyed thirteen enemy aircraft.

Air-Borne Troops Receive Diplomas

SHILO, Man., Sept. 13 (CP)—Paratrooper wings and diplomas were presented here today to the first graduating class of air-borne troops to receive their complete training in Canada. The First Canadian Parachute Battalion, now overseas, started its training at Fort Benning, Georgia.

Following the presentations, the graduates were inspected by Lt.-Gen. Kenneth Stuart, chief of the general staff, Lt.-Col. G. S. Currie, deputy minister of National Defence, and Brig. R. A. Macfarlane, deputy commanding officer of M.D. 10.

Gen. Stuart said Dominion military authorities had no intention of changing the role of Shilo Military Camp at present.

"It was the existence of the Reserve Army that enabled Canada to carry out the hundred-fold expansion of its Active Army during the war," the chief of staff declared. "I look on the Reserve Army as being the backbone of Canada's military system, and I think it will remain so."

Asked for his views on possible future developments in the war, Gen. Stuart said: "I refuse to stick my neck out there."

Four Hurt When Trains Collide

MEDICINE HAT, Sept. 13 (CP)—Four men were injured, none seriously, last night when two Canadian Pacific Railway freight trains collided head-on near Cross, about ten miles east of Maple Creek, Sask.

Engineers W. P. Dixon and P. Fisher, and Fireman A. P. Kenward and W. S. Irving, all of Medicine Hat, were taken to the Maple Creek hospital. Irving was released after examination.

Considerable damage was done to the engines and several of the leading cars of each train were derailed. Crews of both trains jumped clear of the wreckage.

W.A. to Pro Patria

A silver tea, under the auspices of the W.A. to Pro Patria Branch, Canadian Legion, will be held at the home of Mrs. C. Sole, 1357 Pandora Avenue, on Wednesday afternoon from 2 until 5 o'clock. A special meeting has been called for Monday, September 20, at 7:30 o'clock, in the auxiliary's clubroom, 1416 Douglas Street, when donations for the bazaar will be received. Following the meeting, games and cards will be played.

C.C.F. Women's Council

Under the auspices of the Saanich C.C.F. Women's Council, a successful supper and social evening was held recently in Woodsworth Hall, Pandora Avenue, in aid of the new C.C.F. Community Hall being built in Saanich. A short programme followed the supper, the speakers being Mrs. K. McAllister and Mrs. A. P. Rayment. Vocal solos were rendered by Mrs. McIntosh. Mr. Rudd, chairman of the building and construction committee, and Mr. Kellow, secretary and treasurer of the building committee, made an appeal for voluntary help and financial support of the enterprise.

W.A. to T.V.

The W.A. to the Tuberculous Veterans met recently in the clubrooms, Blanshard Street, Mrs. M. Standwick presiding. Plans were discussed for a sale of work and tea to be held on October 16, the proceeds for war work. Mrs. N. Adams and Mrs. S. Young were appointed general conveners, while Mrs. H. Crabtree will be in charge of the sale, assisted by Mrs. M. Fletcher and Mrs. F. Huelin. It was reported that gifts of fruit were sent to sick members of the men's branch who are in hospital. The next meeting will be held on October 14 at the clubrooms.

Women of the Moose

Women of the Moose, Victoria Chapter, No. 25, met recently, with Mrs. D. Fairhurst presiding. Four new members were enrolled. Graduate regent, Mrs. M. Davis, was the guest speaker. The mystery box donated by Mrs. Davies was won by Mrs. E. Van Alphen, the proceeds going towards the cigarette fund. A contest in charge of Mrs. J. Thornthwaite will aid the British Columbia Orphanage. It was announced by the convener, Mrs. E. Van Alphen, that helpers are urgently needed to assist in bed-making at the Three Services Canteen.

L.A. to United Church

The Ladies Aid to the Ganges United Church held a silver tea and small sale of home cooking, vegetables, fruit and flowers recently at the parsonage. There was a good attendance of members and friends, all of whom were welcomed by the president, Mrs. J. Dewar. Deep red nasturtiums and zinnias were used for decoration, and tea was served under the convenship of Mrs. R. Toyabae and Mrs. H. Noon. The proceeds derived from the tea was $23, and this sum will go towards providing gifts for men in the services.

Salt Spring W.A.

Salt Spring Woman's Auxiliary met recently at the parish room, Ganges. The president, Mrs. G. H. Holmes, was in the chair, and Ven. Archdeacon Holmes took the devotional period and briefly addressed the members, asking for a renewed effort in the work of the church. The treasurer presented an itemized report of the garden fête in July, stating $157.84 had been cleared for the funds. One-fourth of the amount will go to St. Mary's Church, one-fourth to St. George's Altar Society and the remainder to the Women's Auxiliary and St. Mark's Church. The Dorcas secretary reported a donation of $1.50, and the secretary of $2 donated by the Catholic Ladies' Altar Society. It was voted to pay the $16 owed to the Diocesan Pledge Fund and also affiliation fees for Little Helpers. The local branch membership of the latter has recently increased from three to ten. After discussion it was decided to redecorate a room in the vicarage. The president stated that on the fourth Sunday in September, Ven. Archdeacon A. E. de L. Numa will take the services on Salt Spring Island, while the same day, Ven. Archdeacon Holmes will preach in Victoria. Following the adjournment of the meeting and on behalf of the members, the president presented Mrs. S. W. Hoole, who is leaving the island to make her home in Victoria, with a bouquet of white and pale mauve asters and daisies and a brown leather handbag. In her accompanying speech she expressed personal regret and that of the organization at losing a valuable worker both in the auxiliary and St. Mark's Church. The tea which followed was given in honor of Mrs. Hoole and was under the convenship of Mrs. S. P. Beech, assisted by Mrs. H. Carter.

RESIGNS AS MAYOR

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Sept. 13 (CP)—Charles Daley, newly-named Ontario Minister of Labor, said today that because of the pressure of his new duties, he will resign as mayor of St. Catharines. His last official duties will be when he presides at a council meeting tonight.

Urges Mental Home Be Established Here

Local Council of Women Cover Much Business At First Meeting of Winter Season

"DO not like to have to put a child of twelve or thirteen in the police jail in a strait-jacket for a night or two until she can be transferred to the mainland," Dr. Irene Bastow-Hudson made this statement when she addressed the members of the Local Council of Women at the first meeting of the season Monday afternoon, in her capacity as convener of mental hygiene. "The medical association," Dr. Hudson said, "is very concerned that there are no proper and adequate means for the care and isolation of mental cases on the island, where border-line cases may be kept for observation. Even on the Mainland where there are proper facilities for treatment, conditions in the mental hospital are very crowded," she said. She asked every affiliated society to discuss this question at their next meeting and bring back concrete suggestions and approval of the medical association's plans in trying to establish a home in Victoria, where such cases could be cared for. "Mental hygiene," Dr. Hudson said, "is a question of keeping steady and stable the minds of the nation and of the race." Dr. Bastow-Hudson was warmly thanked for her talk by Mrs. I. Fleming, president of the Local Council of Women, who was in the chair. Mrs. Fleming announced that this subject will be thoroughly discussed at the November meeting of the council.

Mrs. H. I. McKenzie was appointed secretary in the place of Mrs. George Bullock, who has resigned. A letter was read from the City Council stating that it would be impossible for them to provide community housing for old-age pensioners, as they could not provide such housing for any one class of citizen. Mrs. A. C. Ross, convener of the citizenship committee, reported that such a house had been obtained by her committee and was now full. She made an appeal for several pairs of curtains and a mirror to help furnish one of the rooms. Mrs. Ross was warmly thanked for the work she had done.

A letter from the police commission asking what types of pinball machines were objected to by the council was answered by a delegation headed by Mrs. D. L. McLaurin as convener. Some discussion took place about the supply of canned sugar and that allotted to wineries. It was pointed out by Mrs. A. Carmichael that wine and soft drinks might be as essential to some persons, as tea and coffee are to others and that in any event, the sugar allotted for these purposes would only have meant an additional five or six pounds per person if it had been divided among the citizens of Canada. She drew attention to the fact that the extra half pound of sugar per week if used in place of jam would mean a 50 per cent increase in the amount of sugar obtainable. With regard to the complaint that some ration boards were giving extra sugar to certain persons, she said that the ration boards had a certain amount of sugar to distribute, and that the responsibility was in their hands, not in that of the War-time Price and Trades Board. Answering the complaint that pinball machines were obtainable in Victoria, Mrs. Carmichael said that in 1940, 519,000 pairs of baby shoes had been manufactured, but that the 1943 production would run to 228,000 pairs. She felt that since there were more shoes circulating now, more people bought new shoes instead of using those of the older children. She drew attention to the fact that it is now illegal to use coupons to obtain rationed commodities in order to give them away, and said that this

Julia says—
Get youngsters to make lunches and they'll eat 'em

Let the youngsters put up their own lunches!

They take pride in the importance of the work. They know the food will be what they like, not just something "Mom thinks is good for them."

It's surprisingly easy. Here's the way we do it, at our house:

1. The evening before a school day, after the dishes are done, my two youngsters and I decide on what will go into tomorrow's lunch.
2. The youngsters get all the necessary "fixings" together.
3. They arrange the bread so that each slice is next to the "partner" it fits.
4. They spread each slice with a stiff silver knife (if butter is scarce one side is spread with dressing or a sandwich spread), covering the bread floor to the edge so it won't be dry eating.
5. They spread the fillings, making them at least one-third as thick as one piece of bread.
6. They cut the sandwiches in any one of a number of ways; for instance:

- 7. They carefully wrap each sandwich in waxed paper, so it will be fresh and tasty the next day.
- 8. They pack their lunches in paper bags, being careful to put such heavy items as oranges and apples in the bottom of the bag, and the more fragile sandwiches on top.
- 9. They then put their lunches away in the refrigerator or other cool place, and clean up whatever mess they've made.

Incidentally, if you'd like more information on how we do this at our house, take one of the free leaflets waiting for you at your Safeway.

HARRISON—CORRIN

On Saturday afternoon September 11 at 2 o'clock the marriage was quietly solemnized at the home of the officiating minister, Rev. W. G. Wilcox, of Gladys Mary, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Corrigan, to John Arnold "Jerry" Harrison, second son of Mrs. M. Harrison, 2338 Estevan Avenue, and the late Dr. A. Harrison, of Tremmoult, Devonshire.

The bride was escorted in a navy blue tailored suit with moss green hat and beige accessories. Her corsage bouquet was of Opheelia lilies and ranunculus. She was attended by her sister, Miss Edith Corrigan, who wore a pink-striped navy-tailored suit and hat in a similar color scheme. The bride's bouquet was of yellow tea roses and heather. Mr. A. Kenneth Harrison acted as groomsmen for the bride.

Following the ceremony, a small reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 2101 Belmont Avenue, where the guests were received by Mrs. Corrigan and Mrs. Harrison.

The wedding took place quietly at the Parliament Buildings on September 12 at 2 o'clock. The bride was the daughter of Mr. Donald J. McIntosh and the late Mrs. Vi-

YOUNGEST OF STAFF

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, North Africa, Sept. 13 (AP).—An announcement revealed today that the youngest major-general in the United States Army, forty-four-year-old Alfred M. Gruenther, of Platte, Neb., is chief of staff for the Fifth Army now invading Italy. A bridge expert of international renown, Gruenther served as Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's deputy chief of staff in the original North African landings.

Sicilian Invasion Carried Tragedy Too

Only six United Nations vessels were lost in the huge undertaking of the Allied invasion of Sicily. This was a surprisingly small number considering number of ships used. Here smoke from a burning vessel hangs over another vessel in the convoy which are moving into Gela, shown in the background. This was one of the few vessels struck by the Axis.

Church of England Synod Urges Bible Teaching in Public Schools

TORONTO, Sept. 13 (CP).—Introduction of Bible teaching as part of the curriculum in the public and secondary schools of the Dominion was advocated today by the general synod of the Church of England in Canada.

The adoption of a resolution to this effect, moved by Judge G. W. Morley, Owen Sound, Ont., came toward the close of morning and afternoon sessions, at which the training of the young in religious living and Christian education generally was debated in all its phases. In joint session the synod finally adopted the report of the General Board of Religious Education presented by Canon R. A. Hiltz, general secretary.

Judge Morley's resolution requested the synod to co-operate with all other Christian communities in Canada in asking the Minister of Education in each province, except where action has already been taken, to take immediate steps regarding the introduction of such teaching.

ARCHBISHOP ADAMS COMMENDS EFFORTS

Another motion by Most Rev. W. R. Adams, Archbishop of Kootenay, B.C., commended the efforts that have already been made in this regard and instructed the Department of Religious Education, in consultation with religious education boards of other communities, to formulate a general policy in this field, with a view to presenting it to the proper educational authorities of each province.

The Christian education advance movement, Canon Hiltz stated in his report, had developed following revelations that millions of children under eighteen years of age, living

Purse Snatcher in Park Discards Loot

A woman who declined to give her name told police she had her purse snatched by a man wearing an air force uniform near the Burns monument in Beacon Hill Park at 3:30 o'clock Monday afternoon.

The thief ran towards the flagstaff, and dropped the purse when chased by a civilian who heard the woman scream. The purse contained no money, but held personal papers and an identification card.

OAKLANDS GOSPEL HALL

The Women's Gospel meeting at Oakland's Gospel Hall will be held on Thursday, September 23, and not this Thursday as previously announced.

Accommodation for an additional 400 officers and other ranks of the C.W.A.C. has been constructed in Calgary.

Civic Salary Board Holds First Parley

Members of the civic salary committee met in the City Hall committee room Monday afternoon for a preliminary discussion on a tentative schedule of salaries and grades for employees under jurisdiction of the City Council.

They were L. A. Grogan, chartered accountant and chairman selected by the other two members of the committee, E. W. Ismay, City Council representative, and W. M. Black, Vancouver, delegate for civic employees.

Members of the police and fire departments will not be affected by any recommendations made by the committee since they have not turned in any requests for salary revisions.

Discuss Logging With Premier Hart

A delegation of five representatives of the B.C. Loggers' Association was received Monday afternoon by Premier John Hart.

Headed by R. McKee, chairman of the association, and accompanied also by the Hon. A. Welles Gray, the delegation included J. N. Burke, P. A. Wilson, G. W. O'Brien and R. J. Filberg.

Routine matters of concern to the logging industry of this province were discussed by the group, which is periodically received by the Premier.

The chairman, J. A. Heady, treasurer, W. M. Moul, committee, Capt. George Maude and V. Case Morris, report that the sum of $300 has been collected on Salt Spring for the Chinese War Relief Fund, and have thanked the residents of the island who assisted with collecting.

Tag Day Results—The Victoria Branch of the S.P.C.A. realized a total of $252.96 from the tag day last Saturday. Sixty taggers offered their services. Children from Tolmie School, Victoria High School, St. Margaret's Business School and Norfolk House also assisted.

Helicopter May Protect The Forests

By JACK SULLIVAN

The helicopter may serve as a peacetime instrument of protection over Canada's forests.

Brain-child of Igor Sikorsky, Russian plane inventor, designer and builder, the craft is able to soar straight off the ground without forward run and in flight it darts backward, it can "sit" motionless in the air, making vertical landings in areas no larger than the average back yard.

Opinion gathered in a Canadian Press survey of provincial forestry authorities, indicate these officials are watching development of the craft and, depending on experimental trials, may incorporate it on forest protection service.

Ontario authorities plan to obtain one of the machines when available and put it to the test.

Its apparent advantages in forest work over the conventional type of plane now used are that it can hover at tree-top height or in the smallest clearing and deposit fire-fighters safely on the ground, or hang suspended above the forest crown while fire-fighters "step down" to the branches of convenient trees and scramble to earth.

ANSWERS NEEDS OF SURVEYORS

Its ability to move in all directions in a comparatively short space appears to be the answer to the needs of survey work, it could enable minute photography work to be carried on "shooting" diseased, spreading rot that high-speed plane might miss.

Here's what provincial officials have to say about the probable use of the machine in postwar years:

J. A. Brodie, chief, division of forest protection, Ontario: "In areas not well supplied with lakes it is frequently impossible to land by air within ten miles of a fire. In these cases long trails must be established before suppression crews arrive. Helicopters would be valuable to land small crews on these trees in areas remote from lakes on which the present type of aircraft can land and take off.

"Helicopters probably will not replace the conventional aircraft now used but will act in conjunction with them."

E. H. Roberts, director of forests, Saskatchewan: "We are watching with interest the development of this type of machine and no doubt if it proves efficient and practical for use in our forest areas, consideration will be given to its use in our forest fire protection organization."

E. S. Huettner, acting assistant director of forestry, Alberta: "The Government has considered the use of helicopters for a number of years and it would appear that recent improvements have made these machines adaptable to our work. It is not expected, however, that anything in the way of consideration will be given to the purchase of machines until after the war and at that time it is still a question of money."

MAY PROVE THE ANSWER

George P. Melrose, assistant chief forester, British Columbia: "If this form of aircraft subsequently proves in practice all that now is claimed for it in recent experimental trials, it would seem not unlikely that it may prove the answer to some of the difficulties which we have experienced in the past with present types of aircraft."

"Its ability to land and take off almost vertically in narrow confines should make it adaptable to British Columbia topography, where landing and take-off facilities represent the chief problem in unorganized lands."

THE DAY'S HIGHLIGHTS

The favorite, Divulge, came galloping down past the judges' stand in the feature event on yesterday's programme at the Willows race track. He won by three lengths with Jockey Alex Haller in the saddle, in a heat of the day's racing.

Valdina Sun, who finished one and a half lengths in front of Laura G. Race, was the favorite in the feature event of the day by piloting Valdina Sun to victory with a neck decision over Watch Tick. The winner was also a hot choice to cop the major share of the purse.

This afternoon's feature in the Port Angeles Handicap over six furlongs and thirty yards. The prediction department is going out on the limb and picks him to finish in this order: 1, Some Turley; 2, The Entry; 3, Get Wise or Wee Biddy; and Chief Mielie to finish in the show position.

Hal Stripling, managing editor of the Vancouver Sun, was in the city yesterday and came down from the upper part of the island with a little game in his bag. He had about three days' growth of beard on his chin and said that he was going to head for the Cariboo next week to launch a stronger attack on bigger game.

Ben Ford, editor of the naval newspaper, Gangway, entertained the members of the sports department last evening to supper. It was a first class meal, and so to Mr. Ford, we say, thanks very much. "I bet he is better on the Yankees in the coming World Series," stated Bob Whyte last night as he dropped in to say "Good evening." As he usually does every night. "That's right, Bob, I am going for the Yanks this year, and I figure it will be a much closer play-off than twelve months ago when the Cardinals took the American League in their stride."

FROM HERE AND THERE

Among other recent visitors to this department was Herbie Jones, Canadian Press newspaperman, who was with the Canadian and American troops when they landed at Kiska for the "kill," but he, like hundreds of others, was disappointed for there wasn't a soul in sight, not even a dead Japanese. Herbie, with whom I have covered several big sports events in the last ten years, said he slept three days in a sleeping bag on the ground and it did nothing but rain. One thing which was a little bit of a disappointment was that he had, along with the other Canadian writer on the invasion, sent his copy to the United Press for censorship.

"The only thing I found on the island was a few dogs and they became friendly when they became used to us, but it took a little time to get after all they were used to playing around with a bunch of rats."

All England is still mourning the death of Hedley Verity, one of the finest all-round bowlers who stepped towards a wicket in county matches or test fixtures. He died in an Italian prison camp after being wounded severely during battle on the plains of Calais while leading his company on an enemy stronghold surrounded with pill boxes.

Verity, who was still under forty, played for Yorkshire in the county matches and took part in forty test matches for England. In each of his nine full-time seasons he took more than 100 wickets and earned the title of the "batmen's terror."

Hedley's greatest achievement on the cricket pitch was back in 1934 when he captured fifteen Australian wickets for the price of only 104 runs, a record which he took in one day, which remains a world's record to this day. It was the first time in thirty-eight years that England had beaten Australia in a test match, and that team included the great Don Bradman, rated as the finest batsman who ever lived.

ODDS AND ENDS

Navy football team is winging its way towards Saskatoon on this very moment with the British Columbia senior championship tucked away in its luggage. The sailors stopped over long enough in Vancouver during the week-end to pick up the title by beating out Kicks in a three-game series which ended on Sunday afternoon. Ace Pitcher Sid Stebbings took a heart-breaker in the opener by the odd run in three, but he came back in the third and decided to clinch the honors for the blue-jackets. Congratulations are in order from this corner and we wish your team the best of luck in the Prairie series.

The baseball season is swiftly coming to a close. This evening's play-offs start in the Coast League with Seattle taking on Los Angeles winners of the honors by twenty city blocks, and in the East it will be the Toronto Maple Leafs vs. Montreal Royals in the International League elimination. It's too bad that the two Canadian clubs have to meet in the final round. The Leafs won the flag by a fair margin while the Royals just managed to slip into the fourth play-off slot. Here's how far the teams finished behind the Angels in the Coast circuit: San Francisco, twenty-one games; Seattle, twenty-five; Portland, thirty-two; Hollywood, thirty-six and a half; Oakland, thirty-nine; San Diego, forty and a half; Sacramento, just sixty-seven full games.

"Long Game" Is Won By Boston

Delayed Fixture Goes to Braves—Dodgers Capture the Second, 10-3

BOSTON, Sept. 13 (AP)—Boston Braves today won the longest National League game of the year, a ten-inning affair that started July 18, but after completing this suspended session on the long end of a 7-6 score they folded easily to Brooklyn Dodgers, 10-3, in the contest regularly scheduled for this date.

The suspended game had been called because of Massachusetts Sunday curfew in the midst of a Boston rally in the sixth inning. The Braves had pushed over three runs to tie the score, 4-4, and had the bases loaded with one out.

Ed Head had just come to the mound in a relief role for Brooklyn when play was halted, and he returned at the resumption of play today. He promptly walked pitcher Hugh Poland to force in a run and another scored on a fly by Chuck Workman to give the Braves a total of five runs for the inning.

The Dodgers reclaimed two of these in the seventh on Howie Schultz' double off Al Javery to deadlock the score again, but in the tenth the Braves put over a clincher on a walk to Whitey Weidemann, a sacrifice and a single by Tommy Holmes.

In the regularly scheduled game, Whitlow Wyatt held the Braves to six hits, with four of them and an error providing all Boston's runs in the eighth inning after the Dodgers already had unlocked most of the fury of a seventeen-hit blast against four hurlers.

This was the only action in the major leagues.

First Game—R. H. E.
Brooklyn.....011 002 00-6 12 1
Boston.....001 005 00-7 9 0

Batteries: Melfon, Webber (6); Head (7) and Klugan; Barrett, Javery (7) and Briggs, Masi (7).

COAST LEAGUE

Although it's no particular news to anybody, Los Angeles rules today as champion of the Pacific Coast League, with San Francisco, Seattle and Portland following in that order.

The league wound up its regular business Sunday and will turn all immediately to the Shaughnessy play-offs for the President's Cup and $10,000 in bonus money, of which $5,000 goes to the winner.

The play-offs will open in Seattle Tuesday, with the champions staying on to meet the Rainiers at their home lot and San Francisco meeting the Beavers on their home field Wednesday. The survivors of these series will tangle for cup and cash.

Los Angeles split two week-end double-headers with Seattle, the Rainiers, a caliber club for the first half of the year, bested the Angels 2-1 Saturday, but dropped the nightcap, 4-3. Los Angeles, after losing the first contest Sunday, 3-1, finished off after the second with a 4-2 triumph.

Portland split with San Francisco Saturday, 6 to 5 and 2 to 4, but walked off with both ends of the final double, 5-3 and 4-3.

Hollywood took a double jacking from San Diego Sunday, 11-4 and 3-2. The Oakland A's swept their fifth straight double-header from Sacramento, winning 12-7 and 5-2.

Navy Wins Provincial Ball Crown

Esquimalt Squad Captures Series

VANCOUVER, Sept. 13 (CP)—Victoria Navy won the British Columbia senior men's softball championship by defeating Vancouver Kicks in two of three games over the week-end.

Kicks took the opening game of the series 2-1 when Bert Smith, who pitched all three games for the Mainland team, outbroke Navy's Syd Stebbings despite the Navy's fourteen strike-out job.

Navy got to Smith for five hits and three runs in the third inning of the Saturday nightcap and were never in danger from there on. In the series with a 5-1 victory, Morrison Scott handled the mound chores for the sailors.

Stebbings returned to the mound Sunday, and after a slightly shaky start coasted to an easy victory when his mates began to pound thring Bert Smith, winding up on the long end of an 8-3 score.

Standerwick Tops Field

Wins Qualifying Round at Gorge

Finishing with a net score of 67, V. Standerwick topped a large field in the eighteen-hole qualifying test in the handicap championship of the Gorge Golf Club on Sunday.

He finished two strokes in front of Bert Snape and five ahead of Cy Spaven, who checked in with a 72 to be in that bracket by himself. Three scores of 75 got into the championship after a draw with a trio of other players, Jimmy Cunningham, R. Panthorpe and M. E. McDowell were the lucky ones in the draw. Match play will start next Sunday and continue each week until the finals are reached.

Net results follow:
V. Standerwick, 67; B. Snape, 69; M. Spaven, 72; N. J. Howard, 73; O. A. Trickett, 74; A. Clarke, 75; W. Rowe, 75; A. Priestley, 74; G. Petch, 74; A. Simpson, 74; R. Cox, 74; P. Kouri, 74; J. A. Stone, 75; J. Cunningham, 75; R. Panthorpe, 75; H. E. McDowell, 75. The above qualified.

English Racing Rider Coming To Canada, U.S.

SALISBURY, Eng., Sept. 13 (CP).—Little Charlie Elliott, a crack rider who varies his racing skills with a dash of show jumping, will be riding in the American Cup at the National Horse Show in New York City, Sept. 14-15.

That's what the postwar blueprint of this turf veteran of nearly thirty-nine calls for, and he's as enthusiastic as a colt about a North American debut. Race followers over there really will be seeing something because Charlie, during a brilliant twenty-three-year career, has galloped to victories in almost all the outstanding British and Continental turf classics.

"I'm hooked up with a fellow who owns a few horses and we intend taking him to North America after the war," Charlie confided in an interview after a double victory at a one-day race meet here. "They say life begins at forty, so I'm going to ride until I'm about forty-five, then take up training. I'll quit being a jockey after a particularly good season—I hope—and make room for others."

Certain Clubs to Play This Year

NANAIMO, Sept. 13 (CP).—The 1943-44 line-up of teams in the Pacific Coast Amateur Hockey Association will not be decided for another ten days or two weeks, when the status of service teams will be determined. It was agreed here on Sunday at the P.C.A.H.A. annual meeting.

Teams which will definitely play this winter are Victoria V.M.D., Vancouver St. Regis and New Westminster Spifires. Doug Ormiston, of New Westminster, president of the British Columbia Hockey Association, told the meeting that service teams at Vancouver will participate in civilian leagues according to information received from Pacific Command authorities.

A representative of Western Air Command told delegates that the Royal Canadian Air Force has authorized one major team of Allied Cup calibre to operate on the Pacific Coast. He did not say whether the team would be located on Vancouver Island or at Vancouver.

Last season the P.C.A.H.A. operated two senior leagues with five teams in the Vancouver Island circuit and four in the Mainland loop. The meeting did not learn anything definite for the Island League this season. If there is no Island loop this season, Island teams likely will merge with the Mainland League.

The P.C.A.H.A. will meet again soon when it has more details concerning plans of the armed services and the 1943-44 setup will be arranged then.

Jack Ryan, of Nanaimo, was re-elected president. Others returned to office were Ken McKenzie, of New Westminster, as vice-president, and H. B. Forward, of Nanaimo, as secretary. Named commissioners were Fred Taylor, Vancouver; George Cassidy, New Westminster; Ivan Temple, Victoria, and Gerry Berry, Nanaimo.

Eric Cox, former commissioner for Victoria, resigned because of business pressure and poor health.

TORONTO, Sept. 13 (CP).—Ah, rumor! Jim Coleman, of The Toronto Globe and Mail, says there are persistent rumors Burleigh Grimes will be back at the helm of Brooklyn Dodgers next baseball season. Dink Carroll, of The Montreal Gazette, says he was told recently that Burleigh is a clinch to replace Frankie Frisch at Pittsburgh. A week ago today, 31,000 Vancouver sports fans turned out to see Labor Day attractions. The host race drew 18,000, a track and field meet 7,000, baseball play-offs 3,500, box increase 1,500, and cricket 1,000.

PUCK PLATTER

The Vancouver Province announces that Brayshaw, amateur hockey player of wide experience, may this season be one of New York Rangers forwards. And in the same paragraph The Province says: "There is only one difficulty. Just as the Rangers moved in on Brayshaw, so did the draft." And Dave Dryburgh, of The Regina Leader-Post quotes a Regina fan: "Why, every juvenile in town who can skate is heading for the New York Rangers School and the seventeen-year-olds."

NO-HIT, NO-RUN GAME

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 13 (AP).—Jack Kramer, Toledo right-hander, pitched a no-hit, no-run game here, the first of the season in the American Association, as he blanked Louisville Colonels, 4-0. Kramer walked three and struck out three to gain his eighth victory against one defeat since joining the Hens in August, two months after receiving a medical discharge from the United States Naval Sea Bees.

Men in Britain's National Fire Service

Men in Britain's National Fire Service during their spare time make toys for children in day war nurseries from bomb debris. The toys include see-saws, slides, and an engine big enough for two.

How It Started

"TO BE STRUCK ALL OF A HEAP"

A reader inquires: "Talking about Italy, what is the origin of the expression 'to be struck all of a heap'?"

The allusion, of course, is to one who is hit hard by surprise, not hard as to be overcome by paralysis.

The expression "struck all of a heap" was common in the colonies, but it was imported from England.

Though Shakespeare used a similar phrase in his Titus Andronicus (Act II, Scene 3), the earliest literary appearance of the exact idiom appears to be in Richardson's Pamela, published in 1740.

The expression was probably current during the sixteenth century, but not before; its association by our reader with Italy brings it right up to the minute.

JUST POOR LUCK

The piccolo player was a habitual stammerer. One day the band was playing a piece of music.

There you see, "sighed" the piccolo player, "that's a typical example of my luck. Mine is the smallest instrument in the band."

The bandmen spent the money in a wild spree—with the result that the next performance was not-so-good.

The Eastern potentate was furious and ordered the bandmen to ram their instruments down their throats.

The piccolo player turned to his colleagues.

"My bad luck again," he said. "Mine is the only one that will go down."

Penhold XI Win Game

Alberta Cricket Eleven Triumphs

AT WAB. Albert Betts, Winnipeg and Port William hockey star who saw brief service in the American Association, is reported "missing in action" overseas. Vince (Winnipeg Tribune) Leah writes of Betts: "He was one of the poorest skaters that ever reached junior competition. He would stumble and stagger all over the premises but strangely enough nobody could tag him. He scored goals by the dozens." Pat Berry, Leithbridge, Alta., heavyweight boxer, is unlikely to box again. Berry has been invalided home from overseas army service with injuries to his left hand and wrist, the result of a bomb explosion in London.

Joan McArthur, of the Canadian women's basketball champs, Vancouver Hedlunds, has joined the R.C.A.F.

INCIDENTALLY

Vancouver soccer players, readying for the winter season, suggested to find an almost complete absence of soccer balls on the market. Officials are gathering all available balls for patching.

Sgt. Jack Buell, of the R.C.A.F., former Ottawa Rough Riders football player, is stationed at Yorkton, Sask., and anxious to line up with Regina Roughriders in the Western Inter-Provincial Union.

Lou Mogul, coaching the Winnipeg United Services line, claims the mechanically perfect player will beat the very fighting type of grinder every time out.

Bays Defeat Oaks In Boxla Fixture

Winning out on the right end of a 15-10 score, Bays took a one-game lead over the Oaks in the midweek boxla fixture which opened last night at Stevenson Memorial Park.

Oaks showed considerable improvement over their earlier exhibitions and managed to tie the score four times before finally going down to defeat. Half-time score was 7-3 in favor of the Bays.

Line-ups and scorers: Bays—Atkins, Johnson 1, Baldwin 5, Salmon 1, Curry 1, Cliff, Stinson 4, Thompson 1, Tooby 1, Worth and Langdon 1. Total 15.

Oaks—Hocking, Lott 3, Page 4, D. Stewart 3, R. Stewart, D. McArthur, Clark 1 and Bull. Total 10.

Referee—Doug Fletcher.

R.C.A.F. Flyers and Jokers-Cougars will meet in a senior fixture this evening at Stevenson Memorial Park at 8:15 o'clock.

Burrards Win

VANCOUVER, Sept. 13 (CP).—Burrards defeated Army, 16-8, here tonight to deadlock their semi-final series in the Inter-City Boxla League play-offs at two wins apiece. The fifth and deciding game is scheduled for Wednesday.

WAR PICTURE AT Dominion Is Now Being Held Over

This may sound too good to be true, but it's a fact that Pierre Aumont, who has been decorated with the Croix de Guerre and escaped some time ago from France, almost repeats his personal exploits in M-G-M's "Assignment in Brittany." The picture is being held over at the Dominion Theatre.

Amusements

On the Screen

Alma—Nelson Eddy and Jeanette MacDonald in "Rose Marie."

Adel—Henry Fonda and Lucille Ball in "The Big Street."

Capitol—"Mr. Lucky," starring Cary Grant and Laraine Day.

Dominion—"Assignment in Brittany," starring Susan Peters and Pierre Aumont.

Oak Bay and Plaza—"The More the Merrier," with Jean Arthur and Joel McCrea.

Rio—Robert Montgomery in "The Earl of Chicago."

York—"In Which We Serve," starring Noel Coward.

ing roles, is showing today on the screen of the Atlas Theatre. "Rage in Heaven" from the novel of the same name written by the author of "Good-Bye, Mr. Chips," is also on the bill. This dramatic film has Ingrid Bergman and Robert Montgomery as its co-stars.

THEATRE The title of "In Which We Serve," the dramatic biography of a destroyer which sees action in the present war, is now showing on the screen of the York Theatre through United Artists release, is a quotation from a naval prayer. In the picture you can hear the prayers recited by Noel Coward to his shipmates aboard the H.M.S. Torrin.

OAK BAY—Jean Arthur, the AND PLAZA lovely star, portrays a Washington secretary in Columbia's laugh-filled new romantic comedy, "The More the Merrier." Currently on view at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres, the George Stevens production also stars Joel McCrea and Charles Coburn. Richard Coates heads the supporting cast, which includes Bruce Bennett, Frank Sully and Clyde Fillmore.

RIO Robert Montgomery has accepted the challenge of a role that is different from anything he's ever had on the screen. He not only accepted it with enthusiasm, but put on a one-man campaign to sell himself as a Chicago gangster and murderer in "The Earl of Chicago," currently playing at the Rio Theatre.

ATLAS The musical extravaganza, "Rose Marie," starring Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy in the lead.

CHAPTER VII

Unconsciously Rosemary moved down the car. Her hands were cold and stiff. But she knew that the road ahead was not the road of the past. She held her breath, waiting for the road to lead her to the place where she had been.

WELCOME TO LIGHTNING BRIGHTS.

The remainder of it was broken off. But it was the road that led her to the place where she had been.

ER CAMP IN ALL THE WEST.

"I'm not here," Rosemary spoke in a low voice.

I couldn't ever afford to stop. But I was here. I was here.

Little Stories for Bedtime

PETER RABBIT

PEELS HIS

When you are tempted to do wrong, think of Peter Rabbit.

He is very sure that soon or late you'll wish that you had answered no.

Just ask Peter Rabbit if this isn't so. If he answers truthfully, and he will answer truthfully if he answers at all, he will tell you that it is.

The probability is that Peter will try to change the subject. If he does, he is a pleasant one to him.

He is forever crawling out of a hole, but he has been able to say no when he has been tempted. It is a lot easier to jump into trouble than to crawl out of it. But if you don't do the former you won't have to do the latter.

Now when Peter Rabbit left the garden of Farmer Brown that night after sampling lettuce and carrot tops and beans and cabbage to his heart's content, and a little more than the content of his stomach, he had been in the worst kind of mischief, and he knew it. But it hadn't got him into trouble, and so he was planning to go to the same place tomorrow night.

He was in high spirits, was Peter, as he set out in the moonlight across the green meadows toward the dear old river patch.

In the first place, his stomach was full, almost to bursting, and he was feeling very comfortable.
